09	The 2015 – 2020 Disability Action Plan

Austin Health's Disability Action Plan has been developed with reference to the Victorian Disability Act 2006, the Commonwealth Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the Victorian State Disability Plan 2013 – 2016 and outlines strategies and identifies actions, in accordance with the requirements of these Acts and Plan in meeting the needs of patients, community and staff with disabilities. Other associated acts include;

- » United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities
- » Victorian Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006
- » Victorian Equal Opportunity Act 2010
- » Victorian Disability Amendment Act 2012
- » WHO International Classification of Functioning Disability and Health 2001

This Disability Action Plan will be in place until the introduction of the Department of Health's Equity Standards.

We are pleased to introduce Austin Health's 2015 – 2020 Disability Action Plan.

Austin Health's Disability Action Plan has been developed in consultation with our consumers and staff.

The Plan recognises the complex and variable needs of people with disabilities.

The Plan commits our organisation to continue to identify and address the barriers that impact on the ability of our patients, carers and staff to be fully included and participate in their community.

We will achieve this by improving: access to services; the provision of care; our facilities; and the employment opportunities for people with a disability.

We look forward to achieving our shared vision of enablement with the ongoing support of our community and staff.

Aim

The purpose of this Disability Action Plan is to ensure that all members of our community with a disability, both consumers and staff, have equal access to: services; care that meets their needs; our facilities and equipment; and employment, in the case of staff. Our staff enable disabled consumers to be fully included and participate in their community.

Objectives

The objectives of the Plan are to:

- » make it easier for people with a disability to use services available to all
- » foster and create a healthcare service where people with a disability are afforded the same opportunities as the broader community
- » promote and increase awareness about the specific rights and needs of people with disabilities and their carers to Austin Health's employees and the broader community
- » focus on practical, achievable and deliverable initiatives to improve equitable accessibility to the physical and visual environment
- » enhance communication and reduce barriers, including attitudes, that may discourage people with a disability from using or providing the organisation's services
- » achieve tangible changes in attitudes and practices which discriminate against people with a disability
- » reduce barriers to people with a disability obtaining and maintaining employment
- » meet legislative requirements under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the Disability Act 2006 in all areas of Austin Health's service delivery and in its role as a responsible employer.

Policy and legislation

The Commonwealth Disability Discrimination Act 1992 promotes respect for the basic human rights of people with disabilities and defines 'disability' in relation to a person as:

- » total or partial loss of the person's bodily or mental function
 - » total or partial loss of a part of the body
 - » the presence in the body of organisms capable of causing disease or illness
 - » the malfunction, malformation or disfigurement of a part of the person's body
 - » a disorder or malfunction that results in the person learning differently from a person without the disorder or malfunction
 - » a disorder, illness or disease that affects a person's thought processes, perception of reality, emotions or judgment or that result in disturbed behaviour.
- and includes a disability that:
- » presently exists
 - » previously existed but no longer exists
 - » may exist in the future (including because of a genetic predisposition to that disability)
 - » is imputed to a person.

The International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health (ICF) is a framework for describing and organising information on functioning and disability. It provides a standard language and a conceptual basis for the definition and measurement of health and disability. The ICF includes environmental factors in recognition of the important role of environment in people's functioning. These factors range from physical factors (such as climate, terrain or building design) to social factors (such as attitudes, institutions, and laws). Interaction with environmental factors is an essential aspect of the scientific understanding of 'functioning and disability'. (WHO, 2001)

The Victorian Disability Act 2006 provides for:

- » a stronger whole-of-government, whole-of-community response to the rights and needs of people with a disability
- » a framework for the provision of high quality services and supports for people with a disability.

The Act says that all public services—government departments, statutory authorities and statutory corporations—must have a Disability Action Plan and must report on their Disability Action Plan every year, to ensure that the plans are put into practice.

The DH policy 'Doing it with us not for us: Strategic direction 2010 – 13' requires that all public health services have a Disability Action Plan as specified under the Victorian Disability Act 2006.

Development of the plan

Austin Health's Executive Director of Strategy, Quality & Service Redesign had responsibility for overseeing the development and implementation of the Austin Health Disability Action Plan.

The Austin Health Community Advisory Committee reviewed and endorsed the Disability Action Plan.

The Consumer Engagement team were facilitators in the external consultation phase with key consumer agencies and individuals to assist in the development of the Disability Action Plan. The members of the Diversity Sub-committee led the development, implementation, evaluation and reporting of outcomes from the Plan.

There were three main priority areas that emerged from the staff and consumer consultations that form the basis of this plan.

1 The provision of appropriate care.

This includes the key role that carers play, the need for specific care plans, as well as other specific care needs such as timing of appointments and planning for discharge.

2 Accessing the physical environment and the provision of specific equipment.

This includes communication tools to enable our patients to maintain independence and participate in their care.

3 Promoting and actively supporting employment for people with a disability.

Governance

The Disability Action Plan has been developed by the Diversity Sub-committee, which reports to the Partnering with Consumers Committee. The chairperson is the Ambulatory and Allied Health manager. The executive sponsor is the Executive Director – Strategy, Quality and Service Redesign. The committee members are comprised of consumers from a diverse group of backgrounds including disability and cultural diversity, and staff who are champions for the priority areas of the Disability Action Plan and work with consumers and people with disabilities.

Performance indicators have been determined for each action and will be reviewed regularly over the life of the plan. The Diversity Sub-committee will be responsible for providing an annual update on this plan to the Austin Health executive and the Community Advisory Committee. A review of the Disability Action Plan to identify achievements and to update the Plan will be conducted annually starting in December 2015.

Our three priorities
